SugarVeil AirPen Piping Dispenser

Here are just a few examples of decorations made with the AirPen Piping Dispenser.

Small tip of the Icing Dispenser used to dispense a hairline of SugarVeil Icing. When line was partially set, a larger tip used to apply perfectly rounded dots of SugarVeil to the strand. Result is a totally flexible and completely edible strand of pearls.

Tracing lace designs with SugarVeil onto greased parchment. Peel when set and place onto cake.

You can also use other icings through the Dispenser. Here, royal icing (flow consistency) is traced onto parchment with the Piping Dispenser; the center is candy coating used thru the Dispenser.

For more intricate patterns, place design under greased cellophane to trace and color-fill with SugarVeil Icing.

You can add tiny dots of SugarVeil Icing to the very edge of SugarVeil “fabric” using the Piping Dispenser. Dots made with SugarVeil are always rounded, never pointed.

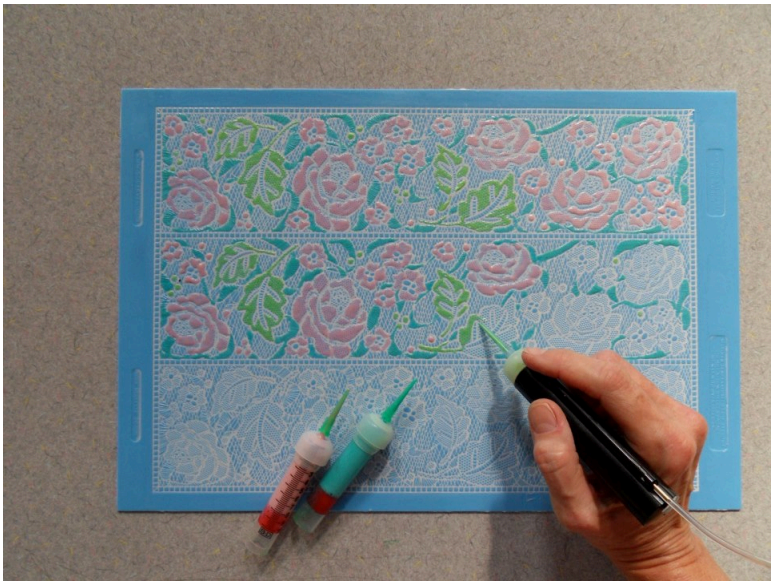

The woven pattern is made using SugarVeil Icing with the Woven Confectioners' Mat, then tiny dots of colored SugarVeil are applied using the Piping Dispenser.

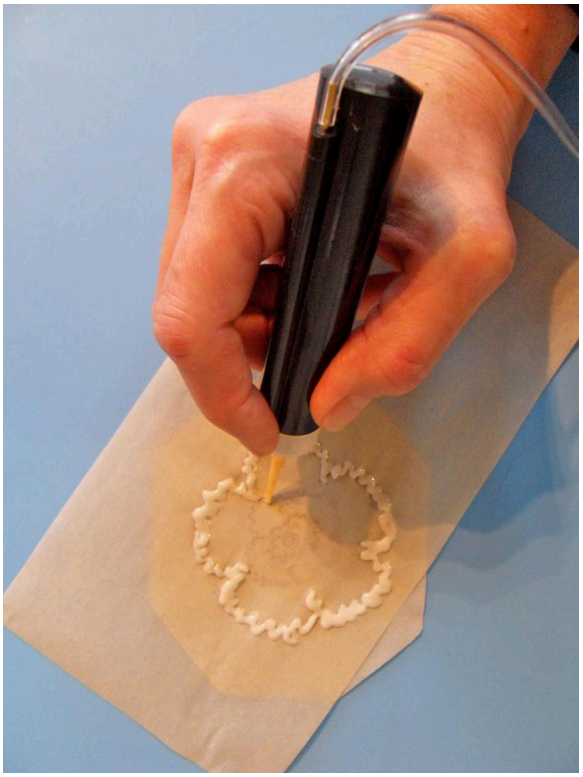

The Woven Confectioners' Mat, cast in Extra Dark Chocolate SugarVeil, then the Piping Dispenser was used to apply “stitches” of white SugarVeil Icing.
